

About Britt Andreatta

Dr. Britt Andreatta is an internationally recognized thought leader in leadership and learning. Drawing on her unique background in leadership, psychology, education, and the human sciences, she has a profound understanding of how to unlock the best in people, helping organizations rise to their potential.

She is the CEO and President of 7th Mind Inc. providing groundbreaking research and science-based solutions for today's workplace challenges. Britt has published several titles on learning and leadership including her books Wired to Grow: Harness the Power of Brain Science to Master Any Skill and Wired to Resist: The Brain Science of Why Change Fails and a New Model for Driving Success. Britt is currently writing her next books on the neuroscience of teams and the conscious evolution of organizations.

Britt is a seasoned professional with more than 25 years of experience consulting with businesses, universities, and nonprofit organizations. Corporate clients include Fortune 100 companies like Comcast and Apple as well as companies such as Ernst & Young, Avvo, LinkedIn, Franklin Covey, AlterEco Foods, DPR Construction, and 15Five. Dr. Andreatta has also worked with major educational institutions like the University of California, Dartmouth University, and the University of New Mexico as well as non-profit organizations like the YMCA and Norton Healthcare.

She has received over 5 million views worldwide of her courses on Lynda.com and LinkedIn Learning. Titles include The Neuroscience of Learning, Creating a Culture of Learning, Organizational Learning & Development, Leading Change, Having Difficult Conversations, and Leading with Emotional Intelligence.

A highly sought-after and engaging speaker, Britt delivered a TEDx talk called "How Your Past Hijacks Your Future" and she regularly speaks at corporate events and international conferences receiving rave reviews like "best speaker of the conference" or "best keynote I've ever heard."

Britt has won several prestigious awards including the 2016 Global Training & Development Leadership Award from the World Training & Development Congress. She won the Gold Medal for Chief Learning Officer magazine's Trailblazer Award, and was also nominated for the CLO Strategy Award for her work in designing a performance management program based on growth mindset principles. Talent Development magazine identified her as an "outstanding thought leader and pioneer" featured in the June 2017 issue.

She has served as the Chief Learning Officer for Lynda.com and Senior Learning Consultant for global leadership and talent development at LinkedIn. She continues to partner with Lynda.com and LinkedIn as an author and thought leader on learning and leadership.

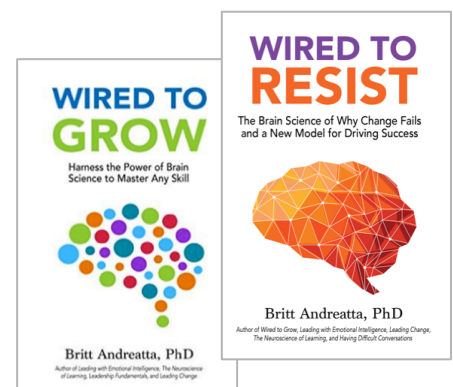

Dr. Andreatta has served as professor and dean at the University of California, Antioch University, and several graduate schools. She regularly consults with executives and organizations on how to maximize their full potential.

To learn more, visit her website and social media channels:

Website: www.BrittAndreatta.com

LinkedIn: www.linkedin.com/in/brittandreatta/

Twitter: @BrittAndreatta

Testimonials for Britt Andreatta

"You were not only the best keynote we have ever had for this conference, you were the best keynote I have seen, ever."
~ Mark Walker, Board Member, Technology Affinity Group

"Best session of the conference!" + "Britt is the best in the biz!" + "Her Growth Culture Model is a game changer."
~ Attendees, Association for Talent Development's (ATD) International Conference & Expo 2017

"Britt, sending a ton of thanks for your support of the Leader meeting last week—a TERRIFIC experience. The talk you gave spirited people in such a positive way AND your delivery was flawless. Thank you for helping us to get our leaders into the "think differently" space. Loved it!"
~ Martha Soehren, Chief Talent Officer and SVP, Comcast

"Britt's research and application to the workplace is truly cutting edge." + "Absolutely mind blowing!" + "I'm very excited to take this information back to my organization because there is so much potential for Britt's work to be included in our current projects."
~ Attendees, ATD Tech Knowledge & SHRM 2017

"I've done the 'required' management and leadership training at a number of companies from small startups to giants in the enterprise space—including Microsoft and Cisco—and without a doubt, the training that Britt has done for us at Avvo has been the most engaging and useful of all. The way she combines scientific research, first-hand experience, and practical advice has been incredibly valuable."
~ Tim Ahlers, Director of Product Management, Avvo

"You have powerful influence in our field and a whole generation of L&D professionals is hungry for your message. People are better because of what you do."
~ Cory Kreeck, Executive Director for Training & Development, Beachbody

"I have partnered with Britt on several major initiatives. Britt rapidly assesses a business situation and is able to immediately apply the perfect concepts and craft a learning journey that enhances participants' capability to achieve their goals both personally and professionally. I could not imagine taking a company through rapid growth or major change without her."
~ Dr. Kelly McGill, Diversity & Inclusion, Amazon

"We just had Dr. Britt Andreatta on our campus to teach her unique science-based approach to change management. The material was easily understandable and thought-provoking; it allowed participants to immediately apply the lessons and framework to how they lead change and initiatives. Top managers from a variety of offices found the class to be extremely valuable and applicable."
~ Lisa Slavid, Org & Performance Management, University of California, Santa Barbara

"When a company has a major culture shift, you can rarely look to one person. Britt was an exception to this. What looked like company-wide management training became the foundation for the conversations, relationships, and plans to positively impact the culture. She was the rock and rockstar in the organization making sure the culture was solid."
~ Hilary Miller Headlee, VP of Global Sales, Alteryx

"Britt has been a gift in my life, both professionally and personally. I was immediately impressed with her warmth and top-notch coaching skills. Then we got to see how fabulously she teaches her content, with a number of high quality courses that were instrumental for Lynda.com to launch our business skills area. She has a high EQ to help people at various levels of an org find their best selves."
~ Jolie Miller, Head of Business & IT Content, LinkedIn